

Metago Celebrates 30 Million Users for ASTRO File Manager™

Metago's ASTRO File Manager™ continues dynamic growth with over 30 million installs through the Google Play Store and over 2 billion ASTRO sessions.

Marietta, GA – June 7, 2012 – Metago Incorporated, creators of ASTRO File Manager™ for Android mobile devices, today announced that ASTRO has exceeded 30 million installs on Google Play, millions more through OEM partners and an estimated 2 billion “opens” of the ASTRO application since its release.

“If you consider non-gaming applications that have exceeded thirty million users, we are in a small, elite group of apps like Dropbox, Evernote and Instagram” said Kevin Payne, founder and chief executive officer of Metago. “According to some estimates, ASTRO has been installed on approximately 10% of all Android activated devices and we continue to grow at a rapid pace with over 80,000 new installs daily and no signs of slowing down.”

ASTRO File Manager™ allows users to organize all the files on their phone. It's like Windows Explorer on mobile phones and tablets. ASTRO has additional tools that users need such as backing up apps to their SD card, a powerful task killer and an SD card tool that graphically shows users where their space is being used.

“This is a great accomplishment considering that just over two years ago we only had one million users,” said Kent Krueger, vice president of sales, marketing and user experience of Metago. “Now our focus is on creating seamless connections for our users with their favorite cloud storage and file sharing solutions.”
